

CPYRGHT

Robert J. Burns, 50, Former CIA Worker, Dairy Unit Aide

Robert James Burns, 50, who died after Pearl Harbor. Mr. Burns fought in many of the major European battle zones. He worked for the Central Intelligence Agency for nine years, died of a heart attack Wednesday in Atlantic City, N.J.

Mr. Burns had been a member of the staff of the Dairy and Food Industries Supply Association, Inc., for the past four years.

Entering World War II imme-

Native of Alaska

He worked for four years as a travel agent for Pan American Airways before joining the CIA in 1953.

A native of Fairbanks, Alaska, Mr. Burns graduated from the University of Alaska in 1939 with a bachelor of arts degree in history and political science and returned to the Georgetown School of Foreign Service in Washington after the war, graduating in 1947 with a bachelor of foreign service.

Mr. Burns was a resident of 7313 Falmouth St., Springfield, Va., and participated in the Springfield Community Theater, producing, acting and designing scenery. He was acting Cub Scout pack leader during the past year.

Services Set Tomorrow

He leaves his wife, Patricia B.; one daughter, Janine; one son, David; two brothers, Frank M. of Seattle, Wash., and William T. of Salinas, Calif., and his mother, Mrs. William T. Burns of Seattle.

Memorial services will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Mt. Vernon Unitarian Church, 1911 Windmill Lane, Alexandria. Burial will be private.

The family requests that contributions be made to the Heart Fund.